

RCOG Research Clinic

Project Evaluation Form

Please use the form below to provide details about your proposed project. Your submission will help us understand how RCOG Research can assist you in realising your goals and making a meaningful impact in the field of Obstetrics and Gynaecology.

If you are at the beginning stages, kindly provide as much detail as you can. This will assist us in understanding your needs better and tailoring our support accordingly.

Please read the disclaimer and check the box below as part of the submission

The advice and guidance provided is to assist trainees and other members and fellows in taking the best approach when they are considering making a project proposal or preparing a professional article for possible publication. The advice and guidance will be based on the extensive experience of the professional clinicians providing it, and will be provided in good faith, but it will not offer any guarantee of a greater chance of success though engaging with this service. It will comprise reference to general areas for consideration by trainees and staff, and through answering questions and the discussion of the subjects raised. Final decisions on whether to propose a project or submit an article will be the responsibility of the trainees or staff involved.”
